

100 YEARS
Booklist

Vol.101 No.22

Includes REFERENCE BOOKS BULLETIN

8/05

SPOTLIGHT ON

IMMIGRATION

VIDEO and DVD

Adult

The French Chef with Julia Child. 7hr. WGBH, VHS, $236.99; DVD, $39.95 (0-9677400-2-9). 800-255-9424.

When Julia Child's first television season in 1962, there were no camera angles, only one. This compilation of the first television season of French cookery with commentary, and our programs are arranged chronologically. Dishes skips back and the young chef cooking in a basic kitchen set to a scene in color) visiting France to make salade Nicoise. The DVD and choose recipes and their perennial popularity. Affordable price make this a great collection. The recent America's Favorite Chef on WGBH. —Candace Smith

Home of the Brave. VHS, $295 (1-5945-1234-5); DVD, $39.95 (1-59458-244-5). 800-255-9424.

Viola Liuzzo, the 39-year-old Teamster, was "the only woman in the civil rights movement" who came south to participate in the Selma march in 1965. She was murdered in a sniper's bullet on a lone highway. The

Editor's Note

- The simultaneous release of Potter and the Chamber of Secrets in both print and audio formats is a possible joint venture. See the U.S. News & World Report issue, p.1948, for more on listening to the audiobook. Cooper's account of the
- Be sure to check out Spotlight on Immigration which appears in the Foreign Affairs magazine. Included in the Immigration materials, p.1964, are three video/DVD titles.

—Sue Ellen Beauregard

tion reexamines the evidence and subsequent cover-up as Liuzzo's daughter traces her mother's journey. Archival news footage, interviews with prominent figures of the period, painful family remembrances, and eyewitness accounts paint a Parenting with Children's Books. 2005. 30min. Words That Cook, DVD, $39.95 (0-9677400-2-9). 774-885-2000.

Live hosts standing in an animated "virtual-kitchen" set discuss what elements are needed

Parenting with Children's Books. 2005. 30min. Words That Cook, DVD, $39.95 (0-9677400-2-9). 774-885-2000.

Live hosts standing in an animated "virtual-kitchen" set discuss what elements are needed to foster a love of reading in children. Each short segment features an interviewed expert or parent interacting with lively tots and enthusiastic youngsters as he or she shares "recipes" for successful book experiences. A youth services librarian, for example, links a picture book with a rousing rendition of "Old MacDonald" in her presentation to a group of toddlers. Hints—including choosing books with large illustrations, talking about the pictures before reading the text, matching a child's interest with appropriate books, and linking books to real-life experience—are captioned onscreen for emphasis. Finger plays and signing with tots are also discussed. Various book titles are recommended throughout the program, and an ending segment recaps tips and offers suggested reading choices for older children. For parents and educators. —Candace Smith era. Vintage clips set this fascinating study into the historical time period. Viewers are cautioned about the necessary frankness of this documentary. —Candace Smith

ing in children. Each interviewed expert or lively tots and enthusiastic she shares "recipes" for books. A youth services links a picture book of "Old MacDonald" to a group of toddlers. ing books with large ut the pictures before ing a child's interest and linking books to captioned onscreen ays and signing with Various book titles are ut the program, and ps tips and offers sug- or older children. For —Candace Smith

Battle in New in. Films for the VHS and DVD, $126.

ra commentary from managers, political nts, New Hampshire ididates, and college twork television news a explains the New ocess and its role and the 2004 presidential e program provides nto the unseen world rious points of view e mix of facts and pe- lores the increasingly ology in getting can- nd discusses personal ke a good candidate. and lacking a topical ntary offers plenty of gh-school and college ts. —James Scholtz at Shook the World. VHS, $19.95, $19.95 (1-59375-

004, an earthquake in duced an immensely de- ded more than 250,000 people. This fascinating, chilling, nonsensationalistic documentary examines the cause of this horrifying catastrophe and explores efforts of scientists to prepare for future tragedies. Us-